

2020 SPONSORSHIP PACKAGES

Invest in our nation's health.

With an estimated 6,000 pre-health students at UC Davis and thousands across northern California, the UC Davis Pre-Health Conference has, over the last seventeen years, become the largest conference for future health professionals in the country.

California's universities and community colleges have the most diverse student body in the nation – close to 65% of those enrolled in our academic institutions are considered underrepresented in medicine (URM, as defined by AAMC). This group of culturally competent and academically strong students is suited to one day serve the diverse population of our nation.

The Conference is self-supporting and does not receive discounts for using the facilities at UC Davis. Our students need your help to continue to provide this amazing conference for their peers.

Please consider investing in our pre-health students by joining the sponsor team for the 18th Annual Pre-Health Conference.
