Why Attend the Pre-Health Conference?

Did you know? Many attendees who are applicants are able to build connections and have positive interactions with admissions representatives which have led to acceptances?

We encourage pre-health students/alumni to attend every year/as often as possible. Conference is an opportunity to:

- Connect with new schools/admissions representatives
- Continue to build relationships with schools
- Learn directly from practicing professionals
- Meet like minded pre-health students/alumni
What can attendees do every year?

Why should you attend, when you are ...

- New to health professions or exploring:
  - Learn about requirements, pathways, and timelines & what schools are looking for
  - At didactic workshops, learn from practicing professionals:
    - What their day-to-day life is like
    - What patient care/admin duties are like
    - Their journey and career path
  - Attend an interactive workshop: for a small group session or hands on activity

- Building your application / attended conference before:
  - Continue to build relationships with
  - Find new schools to add to your list
  - Learn about test prep options
  - Ask more in-depth questions to professionals to get a better sense of your goals and community impact you want to make.

- In the application cycle:
  - Meet with the admissions representatives from schools you have applied to! Many applicants have received interviews and ultimately been accepted because they were able to make a good impression and build connections during Conference Day.
